We'd love to have you come play with us at the next event. So, visit us online at LimitlessWomen.com/flow to learn details of what we've got coming up. I look forward to seeing you there.

[Laura Gisborne] Several of you said in your shares, this is why like when I was up Friday night, I was telling the team here like, you know, I was like, "Ah! I want to make sure you get what you're asking for." And several of you said, "I want to write a new money story." Actually, you use that language and I loved it, it touched my heart, okay?

When you look at nature, when you look around you, there is literally no lack.

Joanne, I – my heart feels for you. I had a mother, who was a teenager when she got pregnant with me. She said to me many times as a child, “I wish you’d never been born.” I spent my life trying to be good enough, trying to do more, trying to push more, trying to do more, okay?

Because I didn’t know then what I know now. And what I know now is that I’m perfect the way that God made me and I’m here for a reason and, you know, I’m so grateful to her for doing the work of having me. It wasn’t so easy for her, right? I’m so grateful for that.

When we look around from a perspective of abundance, money is simply one more resource. There are so many resources, just one more thing that’s out there with no limit.

Really, we have a friend named Parisha Taylor, who’s a Native American grandmother. And she told me one time and I don’t know that this is necessarily true, so just don’t shoot the messenger. But, she told me one time that she was talking to a friend from the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. She said, “How much cash actually is there?”

And this person said if they equalize all the currency right across the board for all the different nations, that there’s enough cash on the planet for every person in the world to have something like $400 million. And it’s hard for us to get our heads around, right? Because a very small percentage of people actually control a vast majority of the wealth.

Why I’m telling you that is even if she was like that was a crazy number and not even true, let’s say there was enough that everybody has $4 million. Instead of adding a zero, let’s take off a couple of zeroes.

If there’s $4 million sitting in your bank account right now and maybe, I don’t know, it’s not sitting in my bank account, but it was sitting there right now. How would you experience the world differently?

There was no lack of cash. How would you feel about money? I want you to write your new money story in your book. In your thing, there’s a page that’s my new money story. I want to keep the slides up for the abundance of nature because they’re beautiful and they inspire me and I’m hoping that will inspire you.

When you look at something like this gorgeous – what is this like a plum tree? What are these cherry trees? Cherry blossoms. I think about how many little petals there are. So rich, right?

I want you to be thinking about how you would be with money when you actually tap into the flow that is here to provide everything you want and there's no lack. Everything is coming to you and through you in direct proportion for your requests and your desires.

And I want you to feel excited about that tomorrow. I want you to know that I was so touched when you said you were reignited with your purpose this weekend. It's very beautiful, sweetie. Really grateful that you decided to take the time to be here because I know last year was a hard year.

So, I want you to think about how many leaves in the – you know, and the Aspens are a whole another story, they're actually like a living system, right? Have you guys ever seen the movie, Avatar? Like all the roots of these Aspen trees are all connected. It's actually one big tree, okay?

I'm a beach fan, so we always have ocean pictures. How many drops of water are in this ocean? Okay?

Remember who you are, you've just been told some things that don't serve you any longer. I'd like to see you spend a minute here or two writing a new money story. How are you experiencing your day-to-day operations from a place of groundedness and sufficiency, knowing that you're not alone, everything you need is being provided. Everything that you could dream of as big as you can dream is available to you right now.

Should you choose to take the next action steps to move you there? You don't have to take all the steps. Thank you, [Lynn Bruce]. You don't have to write a hundred miles this week. You can if you're so inspired. But you can take the steps that you can take each day and get anywhere you want to go right now with your life and your business.

You are resourceful, you are resourced. You are a child of God. You're perfect the way that you are. And everything you need to create the vehicle for your impact and your legacy is ready for you to tap into it. It's waiting right there for you to say yes to yourself.

So, how do you feel about the money that comes to you and through you to support you in service of your mission? How do you feel to know that you are blessed with intelligence and great health and access to resources, so that you can not only take care of yourself, but you get to take care of other people as well from a place of overflowing abundance and joy?

When you do my request and you compare backwards to where you used to be, how do you feel? And how much fun is that? Look how far you've come, baby.
